CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON'S TICKET.
 The returning TUCSARAS were their nominees.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DEMOCRATS ARE CLAIMING THAT STATE FOR CLEVELAND.

THE FOURTH OF JULY THIS YEAR COMES ON THE same day with the Omaha third party convention.

THEY ASKED THE GRAND SACHEM OF THE TUCSARAS at Chicago if he believed to have a mortgage on all the wind.

BOSS POWERS is now attracting about as much interested attention as "the composition filling of a back tooth."

THE DISRUPTED OF Colorado need not despair. Let them turn in and vote for VICTORIA WOODS-MARTIN.

THE DEMOCRAT AT CHICAGO had a big four, too—WHITNEY, DICKINSON, STEVENSON and VILAS, a strong, stalwart team.

THE NATIONAL PROHIBITION convention meets in Cincinnati. The two leaders have never held one yet in a prohibition state.

THE ALBANY TIMES-UNION, an outspoken Hill clerk, says: "There can be no suiting over the result at Chicago." That's the stuff.

THE HERALD has been having a great boom of late. Printing all the news, especially big news, in good shape, is bound to tell.

AND IT ONLY WHITNEY would consent to take the place of BLISS at the head of the national Democratic committee, wouldn't things move along smoothly?

JUDGE GRESHAM is dead enough at Harrison to want him beaten for president, but he is afraid his running would divert votes that would otherwise go to CLEVELAND.

THE ANTI-CLEVELAND folks have discovered that it was Alaska and the Indian Territory which nominated the ex-president. But for them, they say, the necessary two-thirds would not have been obtained.

"NO DEMOCRAT EVER BEAT HARRISON," says the New York Recorder. But Blue Jeans Williams, Democratic nominee for governor of Indiana, knocked the socks off that same BENJAMIN HARRISON who is now running for president.

THE OFFICIAL or formal notification of the Democratic candidates for President and Vice-President will take place about the 11th of July. The chairman of the committee is the chairman of the late convention, Hon. WILLIAM L. WILSON of West Virginia.

THE DEMOCRAT AT CHICAGO did not imitate the Republicans in nominating a millionaire for vice-president. General STEVENSON, although he has been an active and successful lawyer and practitioner, can right easily note the aggregate of his possessions with five figures. Fifty or sixty thousand dollars is the sum of what he is worth in money.

WHITNEY REID admits that he does not know ADLAI E. STEVENSON. How could he be expected to know him? General S. has been in public life in Washington some eight or ten years, whilst Reid has been absent from the political centers of this country. Probably Reid will know him when STEVENSON becomes an alumnus of the electoral college.

GOVERNOR ABBETT is saying in his complimentary speech at Chicago that "New Jersey would not present the name of any man who could not be elected," was but repeating in another form what Governor FRANCIS of Missouri said—that Mr. CLEVELAND would not permit his name to be used if he did not believe, sincerely and honestly, that he could carry New York.

THAT NOBLE "Old Roman" of the Democracy, Judge ALLEN G. THURMAN, who four years ago was Mr. CLEVELAND's running mate, is delighted with the result of the Chicago convention. To a newspaper correspondent he said:

It is just what I thought and said would be done months back. I did not see how they would do otherwise than nominate Mr. CLEVELAND. The people wanted him to be the candidate. No man was ever more thoroughly the choice of the mass of the party, and the fact that many leaders were against him makes his overwhelming vote in the convention an unmistakable indication of his popularity.

TO DEMOCRATS.

There is one thing which everybody hereabouts should permit himself to understand, namely, that there is but one Democratic party in Utah. This was understood by most of us all the time, and the Chicago convention took the necessary proceeding to make it plain to all. The national Democracy assembled in delegate convention in the city by the lake gave a certificate to the Utah Democracy, and by that act announced that factions claiming to be Democratic but which were working outside the party lines were simply developing themselves with their pretenses.

Another thing which everybody of intelligence knows is that there will never be but one genuine, legitimate Democratic party in Utah. There may be bolters and factions, but only one straight party can exist, and that will be the party which has the regular organization, as certified by the National Democracy in their conventions, as at Chicago last week. It is not in the nature of things that there can be two Democratic parties in one community working under separate organizations and striving for the achievement of different objects.

These two points being irrevocably settled, it stands Democratic in hand that they get within the party fold where they can do the most effective work for the advancement of the principles of Democracy and help to maintain the rule of that party which recognizes in the people the authority, the will and the power of the government. Whatever excuse a Democrat may have thought he had in the past for refusing allegiance to his party and holding himself outside the lines, he can have no excuse since the Chicago convention. He must now come within the fold or cease to be a Democrat. He must vote the Democratic ticket or confess that he belongs elsewhere than in the Democratic ranks. He must believe in the Democratic doctrine and work for its speed and supremacy, or he will have to take his place with some opposing organization.

There are not many in Utah who have ever professed to be Democrats who are not in harmony and full sympathy with the party which today forms a part of the Democracy of the nation. The Herald does not believe that all told those who stand out will number a thousand, perhaps five hundred would be near the total. But few as they are their place is with the party, for only in the ranks of the Democracy can they be of service to themselves or the party in which they have professed to believe.

A local campaign will soon open. A Delegate to Congress and other officials are to be elected next fall. In a little while primary, county and territorial conventions will be held, commencing in the arranging of Democratic tickets which will be advocated before the people until election day. The Herald hopes that in these conventions all Democrats will participate, no matter where those Democrats have been, no matter with whom they have trained in the past. We hope that all who believe in the principles of Democracy will now see the folly of trying to keep up a factional fight, and will understand that all they can do by such a course will be to give some aid to the common enemy. The Democracy, of course, are strong enough to carry things their own way, and do not fear any faction; but this is not the point. Democrats themselves, for their own good, should be with their party.

SEEKING IT IN THE SUN.

The Herald has already briefly referred to the "Hep" of the New York Sun from opposition to CLEVELAND to support of the ticket, an account of the stress the Republicans, in their platform and by their talk, place upon the "election" or, of the Democrats call it, the bayonet measure in the south. Few supposed the Sun would be able to find any reason for not fighting CLEVELAND, even after his nomination; for that paper has been almost fanatical for many years in its daily attacks upon him. But it has discovered that it must take hold of the ropes and run with the Democratic machine or fall underneath its wheels. Its defection, when CLEVELAND was nominated the first time, was the opportunity of the New York World, and the severe business loss the Sun sustained taught it a lesson then it will never forget. Perhaps that may have had something to do with the fact that it is not a better now. Here is a portion of the Sun's editorial on CLEVELAND's nomination:

The question is whether those southern states, which have inherited a negro population surpassing the number of their white citizens, shall, by federal law and military force, be subjected to the political domination of negroes, to negro legislatures, negro governors and negro judges in their courts; or whether they shall continue to be governed by white men as now. It makes no difference who may be president when the Republican party stands, since Mr. BLISS is now permanently out of line. That party is by its nature and by tradition under the necessity of enacting and executing an election law whose purpose and effect will be to put the negroes in control of several of the southern states. A force, bill the first and inevitable result of a sweeping Republican victory in November. On the other hand, and by the nature and necessity of the ideas involved, the success of Democracy is death to the force bill project. Killed in this election, it can never be revived. In this view of the contest, what conscientious Democrat can hesitate about his duty? Better vote for the liberty and the white government of the southern states, even if the candidate were the devil himself, than consent to the election of respectable BENJAMIN HARRISON with a force bill in his pocket.

OLD FOLKS' DAY.

One of Utah's very best anniversaries comes tomorrow. It is one of the very best because the sentiment which established it is among the sweetest and noblest of the human heart. That impulse which inclines the young and vigorous to care for the aged and infirm has found expression and emphasis in making Old Folks' Day one of our characteristic institutions, and one which it is to be hoped will never be permitted to be forgotten or become less prominent.

The committee, self-appointed and self-directed, are out with their annual announcement of a free excursion and the generous entertainment for a day of the aged. Payson has been selected as the scene, to which charming city all over 70 years of age who present themselves at the Rio Grande Western depot tomorrow morning will be transported. The committee tell the story so well that we reproduce here a portion of the invitation:

This invitation is extended to persons of the above age, without regard to race, faith, color or circumstances.

Are you seventy years old? If so, whether rich or poor, religious or irreligious, we shall be proud of your company on the above day, and the committee will use every effort to render the excursion one of enjoyment not only while traveling, but also at the grove at Payson.

The crippled and blind only are entitled to a companion and these should be persons of mature age, so as to preserve the character of our enterprise.

THE BOOK CONVENTION.

The territorial convention for the adoption of school text books for the ensuing term of five years, began its labors yesterday.

It is an important labor, and from our knowledge of the character and ability of the men who compose the convention, we can predict in advance that the best interests of the territory as a whole will receive the utmost attention in adopting or re-adopting text books for our schools.

We trust that extensive changes of books will not be found necessary. In general, it is safer to err on the side of conservatism than on that of radical or sweeping changes, and this is especially true in the case of changing school books. The expense, the public aversion to the frequent overturning of school books, the delay, etc., are important matters likely to be lost sight of in view of a new but untried book.

IT IS WAR.

It is evident that Mr. HARRISON places little confidence in Boss CLARKSON's profession of admiration and the latter's desire for the success of the Republican ticket. In the meeting of the national Republican committee yesterday, SLOAN FANNEY, an admirer of HARRISON, moved that CLARKSON be elected his own successor as chairman of the committee to conduct the campaign, but the gentleman from Iowa declined, not because he was unwilling to serve, but for the reason that the president didn't want him. The frankness of the president in stating his desire, and of the boss in telling the committee why he would not act is charming, and it tells that the war against HARRISON inaugurated before the Minneapolis convention is to be continued by the same parties down to November. If Mr. CLARKSON had been sincere when he said, on returning to Iowa from the convention, that he would be earnestly desired the election of the ticket, he would have found a way for retiring from the chairmanship without letting it be known that he was kicked out by HARRISON. He was slapped squarely in the face, and he publishes the facts to the world, that all may know the status of affairs between him and the president. Of course the slap also includes PLATT, QUAY and the other bosses who did their best to beat HARRISON at Minneapolis, and who may now be expected to do their best to defeat him at the polls.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO.

It transpires that there is considerable difference between the bills recently passed by the House for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to the Union. In the case of the former the constitution which was framed last summer and ratified in December, 1891, is accepted; hence, if the Senate passes the bill the present is a product of the Union, and Arizona will at once be a state of the Union, and can immediately proceed to elect two Senators and a Representative in Congress. In the case of New Mexico it is provided that in November delegates to a constitutional convention shall be chosen on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and the constitution framed by the convention must be submitted to the popular vote on the Tuesday after the first Monday in April, 1893. Thereafter, the president may issue his proclamation declaring New Mexico a state of the Union.

LIVE COALS.

Lowell Courier: There is something decidedly new in the horse world.

Boston Courier: The place to hear good cornel stories is in the produce exchange.

Dallas News: If your relatives had their way they would not have rich uncles very long.

Lowell Courier: This is a grate day for me, said the convict, as he retired behind the bars.

Philadelphia Times: Another reason for the cooling fans in the berths is that they pleasantly contribute to blowing it in.

Binghamton Republican: Variety is the spice of life. If a man has nothing for supper tonight he doesn't want it for breakfast tomorrow morning.

Pittsburg Times: From the spinning wheel, to the bicycle is a long stride for women's independence.

Elmira Gazette: Jargon says success is a highly developed talent for getting yourself overestimated.

Binghamton Leader: As the season is a little backward we suppose this is about the time that the farmer feeds his pigs.

Life: "If the streets of New Orleans are cleaned by culture, why couldn't they do so in New York?" "They wouldn't work here. They'd be perched all along Fifth avenue, watching the stage-horses."

Texas Siftings: "Run for do doctor, quick! Help! help! Do baby has swallowed a nickel," cried Mrs. Seaburn. "Mein Gott! you make so much fuss as if it was a twenty-dollar gold piece. Repecca," replied Moses.

Washington Star: "Did you hear Katherine Hobbs's graduating essay?" said one girl to another. "Yes, wasn't it delicious? I expected something a great deal better from her."

"So did I. Why, there weren't half a dozen words of more than six syllables in it."

When you buy your spring medicine, you should get the best, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It thoroughly purifies the blood.

Malaria

Malaria, and chills and fever are due to the inhalation of watery vapors and gases arising from decayed vegetation. The humid Spring and Autumn months and the warm, muggy weather of both city and country, the victim is continually tired, and worn out, has no energy, is subject to aches and pains in the back and limbs, and is perspiring one moment and cold the next. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is more effective in this trouble than all the potent Sarsaparillas put together, for the plain reason that it has stimulating properties and a perfect bowel regulating action not found in the others, and yet that are absolutely necessary in the cure of this ill. J. V. S. soon regulates it out of the system.

"I had a bad case of malaria. I seemed unable to check it and being over seventy years old, was very uneasy. Finally, I tried J. V. S. It cured me and I am now happy as before."
